Hi Ruth, this should be fine. I would be happy for you to use the artwork for a scholarly publication, perhaps a fee of £150 would be sufficient. Best, M Elia

Dear Dung Beetle books,

I am writing to request permission to reproduce the cover and four pages from your book We go to the gallery by M. Elia and E. Elia (ISBN 978-0-9928349-1-3) as illustrations for a scholarly article I am publishing in Museum and Society, published by the University Leicester.

website: <https://le.ac.uk/museum-studies/about/journals/museum-society> ; email:)

Editor: Prof. Suzanne MacLeod

My article is entitled “Making Fun of the Museum: Multidisciplinarity, Holism and the ‘Return of Curiosity’”. I would like to reproduce the cover, pages 8-9, and pages 42-43. I can adapt the resolution to your requirements.

Museum and Society is an open access online journal and I do not yet know what volume and number, date of publication or number of users the publication will have. It will be published in English. As this is a scholarly publication for which I receive no compensation I would be most grateful to receive your best discounted fee.
