

An extended source of H-beta flux

An optical point source has been reported in the field of the variable X-ray source NewX-1 (1436 +32). We have observed an extended source of H-beta emission in the same field. The flux in the line is measured to be 10^{-6} erg s⁻¹ cm⁻². The distance of the source and its angular size are unknown.

D J Raine
